THE LISTENING POST

● I believe that for the most amazing contradictions and things difficult to understand, war takes all the prizes. Not many people know of the amazing things which are brought about by war, and I know, perhaps, least of all. Every once in a while I run across something which deepens my amazement.

● Back in the early years of civilization war was a simple affair. A general took his army and started out after another army. The two armies met at some convenient place and a battle was engaged by all. One army was defeated. The victorious army at once killed all the survivors, marched on and took a city which had been held by the foe. Inside the city men, women and children were put to the sword, unless it happened that the victorious soldiers took a fancy for some of them as slaves—in which event, they were chained to the chariot wheels and taken back to the victorious city. Thus, when a war ended, it was ended completely and thoroughly and there were no loose ends to gather up. Under no circumstances did a defeated enemy ever receive any consideration, and a merciful and quick death was the only thing a defeated warrior had to hope for.

● During the centuries which have passed since then efforts have been made to make war more or less humane. Women and children, until recent times, have been looked on as a necessary evil and have not been attacked unless they happened to be directly in the line of fire. Of course, it has always been recognized that when an army is in danger, or when victory lies in its grasp, all rules can be conveniently suspended, for war, after all, is a brutal affair, and victory is the chief concern of all armies and nations.

● Some of the modern refinements of war strike me as decidedly foolish, however. I learned of one modern rule only recently, and I am still amazed over it. It has to do with treatment accorded captured officers. Centuries ago, when an officer was captured, it was the signal for some extra efforts in the way of putting a man to death and woe betide an officer who was captured. Now the pendulum has swung far in the other direction, and a captured officer goes on the payroll of his enemy country the moment he becomes a captive.

● For in these days when a German officer parachutes to safety in England, after a bombing attack on the Island, and is made prisoner on landing, he at once begins to draw a salary from the British government. He is paid prevailing wage for officers of his rank in the British Army. If he happens to be a German colonel, he at once begins to draw the salary of a British colonel from the time of his capture. Strangely enough, even the Nazi government adheres to this same rule, but the exchange is hardly fair. The British scale of pay is quite a bit higher than the German scale, and a captured German officer draws a much larger salary than he was drawing from the home government. Contrary wise, a captured British officer gets quite a salary cut when he is captured by the Nazis, for he begins to draw the German scale from the moment of capture.

● I am hoping that if this nation gets into the war something will be done about it, for army pay in this country is higher, even, than in England. It might be such

Japs To Attack Singapore If U. S. Fights

Spain, Russia Said To Be Agreeable To Aims Of Axis

Rome. —Premier Mussolini's newspaper Il Popolo D'Italia said today that Japan is preparing to attack Singapore, Britain's great Far Eastern fortress, in the event that Britain obstructs Japan's policy in the Orient or the United States enters the war.

Mario Appellus, the paper's leading commentator, calling Singapore "the pivot" of British positions in East Asia, declared: "Japan is seeking to place itself in the best possible position strategically against Singapore in anticipation of being forced by English hostility or the intervention of new allies of England to attack and throw down the pillar of Singapore."

Alliance Strength Appellus warned the United States that it would face the combined forces of the German, Italian and Japanese empires of 20,000,000 soldiers, 2,000,000 tons of warships and from 25,000 to 30,000 airplanes, as well as their "unbeatable strategic position."

"Spain and Russia, informed in a special manner of this resolution of the axis," he wrote, "have made it known that they recognize as just the will of the axis to prevent greater enlargements of the conflict."

Japanese Moves The commentator said Japan was moving in the following lines:

First, to improve further its relations with Russia;

Second, to speed up the destruction of Chiang Kai Shek's forces in China "which are now an Anglo-North American political and financial instrument;"

Third, to systematize China around this central government of Wang Chie Wei;

Fourth to tighten up Thailand (Siam);

Fifth to speed up the self-sufficiency and exploitation of Manchukuo's war industries including iron, coal, fuel and oil;

Sixth, to carry Japan's strategic line still further toward the Gulf of Tonkin and the Gulf of Siam;

Seventh, to lay bases for its economic and "spiritual" penetration in the East Indies;

Eighth, to increase its spiritual relations "with the India of Gandhi and Mohammedan India;"

Ninth, to organize a strategic base of solid military, air and naval proportions in Indo-China.

FINAL WARNING

The police department is issuing its final warning to motorists failing to stop for the red lights at Carr and Lake and at Fourth and Edgings and those who violate this will be brought into Police court and fined.

Terrible Pestilence Predicted For European Nations This Winter

London. —Dr. Joseph Barnes Burt, vice president of the physical medicine section of the Royal Society of Medicine, said in a speech at Bath today that unless every law of medicine was broken, a terrible pestilence would break out on the continent this winter.

"Fortunately we have the Channel between us," he said, "but whether that will be sufficient to prevent a spread to England is another matter. With people herded together in dugouts without proper sanitation and people calling in on their friends, there will be great risk of an epidemic here."

Better Sanitation Ahead Dr. Burt urged health authorities to act at once, regardless of expense, to prevent overcrowding in houses and shelters and in improving sanitation.

All Is Well—Strategist Gives Bulldogs Play

Tonight the Bulldogs will not enter the fray against the crack Tilghman Tornado as the underdog. For, thanks to a master strategist, and his interest in the welfare of the Bulldogs, the team has several new plays which should produce touchdowns.

Read Holland, son of Principal W. L. Holland of Fulton High, is a small lad, but this does not mean that he has no interest in the football squad. He told his father the other day that he believed the Bulldogs needed some new plays—some sure-fire plays which meant scores, and Lawrence told him to go ahead. After a couple of hours spent with pencil and paper, Read came up with three plays, all neatly diagrammed and ready for service. He sent them to Coach Giles with his compliments, and so, tonight, if spectators see the Bulldogs suddenly wheel into some new formations and send touchdowns crashing over against Tilghman, rest assured that Read's plays are being used. One play, however, it is feared will not click successfully, for Read called for players to be in a certain place on a quick pass, and this place lies fifteen yards straight across the line of scrimmage. The father pointed this obstacle out to Read, but he assured Lawrence that the Bulldogs could get to that point at any time.

HORNBEAK APARTMENT HOUSE IS COMPLETED

The Hornbeak Apartments, located at the corner of Carr and Third, across the street from the Funeral Home, are practically ready for occupancy. This apartment house was bought from Dr. Randle Luten by Paul Hornbeak, several months ago and Mr. Hornbeak has completely remodeled it. The house contains four apartments, each having five rooms and a bath.

The apartments have been rented and occupants will move in about the 15th. Mrs. M. V. Harris, who has rented one of the apartments, moved in yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Koelling will occupy one apartment and Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Twomey, who are moving here from Arlington, will occupy another.

There have been widespread outbreaks of "shelter colds" in London already. The appointment of Admiral Sir Edward Evans as "shelter dictator" for Greater London was expected to speed up at once the task of providing shelters with adequate sleeping, heating, ventilating and sanitary facilities, in preparation for a winter of bombing.

Shelter Banks Ordered Medical men are of opinion that London faces a danger of influenza and pneumonia epidemics this winter unless real shelters are provided instead of drafty surface shelters. One million shelter bunks have been ordered, and it was hoped that within a few weeks sleeping accommodations would have been provided for 3,000,000 of London's 9,000,000 people.

Man Charged With Slaying 43 Years Ago Is Freed Under Bond

Williamson, W. Va. —George Estep, 66-year-old Spanish-American War veteran arrested recently in Kentucky and charged with a slaying forty-three years ago, has been released under $10,000 bond. Estep, who operated a farm near Prenter, Floyd County, left immediately with his two brothers, both of whom live in the Delbarton section of Mingo County, West Virginia.

Prosecutor Late B. Chafin, who was informed of Estep's whereabouts by a neighbor, said one eye-witness to the killing still is living. He identified the witness as Will Opten, Holden.

Jane Runyon Estep, the wife of Chafin said the veteran deserted to avoid arrest is bedridden at her home on the Rice branch of Trace Creek.

After Green "Dock" Brewster was shot fatally June 27, 1897, Chafin said, Estep fled to Kentucky and enlisted in the United States Army under the name of Martin Pickles. After serving during the war with Spain, Estep returned to Floyd County, married and reared a large family.

Proposals To Disband Expected

Paducah, Ky. —Whether the Kitty League, Class D. circuit of Western Kentucky and Tennessee, operates in 1941, will be decided here Sunday afternoon when the eight club owners and directors gather for the annual fall meeting. The session is set for 1 p. m. at the Irvin Cobb Hotel.

It is understood that several clubs will propose that the loop suspend operation next season because of unsettled international conditions and come back stronger in 1942. However, a majority of the team owners, according to the latest information, will be in favor of the Kitty living again next year.

At the meeting, which promises to be both stormy and momentous, Owensboro is expected to tell the other clubs if it really intends to quit the Kitty and cast its lot with a league of higher classification or whether it will hang in the feline circuit. Holland Bryan, Paducah owner, will tell the circuit he definitely has quit and that the Indian franchise is on the block. The present plan in Paducah is to operate the club next season as a civic enterprise, with a dozen or more business and professional men and women at the head.

NOTE TO THE BULLDOGS

Sure, Bulldogs, the Tilghman Tornado is tough food to chew on. It may crack your jaws when you take a full bite and clamp down. But it's good food for you, too. It is not entirely impossible for you to bite, chew and digest this tough food. It has been done and it can be done again.

The Tornado will have only eleven players in front of you. Some of 'em will be bigger than you, some will be smaller. No matter how big a man is if you hit him clean and hard he will hit the turf. A good block will bring the best of them down.

At the beginning it will be just as far from one goal as it is to the other. The Tornado must go around or over you just as you must go around or over the Tornado, and the more stubborn you are the slower the Tornado will roll.

Sure it's a big line the Bulldogs will be looking at tonight. But if the Bulldogs line charges fast and low and hard that big line can be moved. The bigger the line the bigger the holes that can be made for the backs to swarm through. Be certain to open the holes, and you Bulldogs in the backfield, be certain you go through those holes when they are opened.

Above all else, don't worry because you think Tilghman has you outclassed at the beginning. That is one thing which must be proved tonight. Make the proving difficult.

Give, Bulldogs, all you have tonight! Don't try to hold anything back. Borrow a little from tomorrow if you need to.

Bulldogs, if you do these things, you will be prouder of yourselves tomorrow than we will be—and that will be a lot!

O. C. WALKER DIES YESTERDAY

O. C. Walker, prominent farmer of the Beelerton community and one of the pioneer citizens of Hickman county, passed away yesterday morning at 10 o'clock at his home near Beelerton after an extended illness. Mr. Walker was 88 years old.

He was born and reared in Hickman county and was a well known and respected resident of his community. He lived a long and useful life and he will be sadly missed by a large host of relatives and friends.

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at Wesley church, of which he was a member, and the pastor, Rev. T. L. Peery will conduct the service. Hornbeak Funeral Home will have charge of interment in the church cemetery.

STOLEN GOODS LOCATED BY MEMPHIS OFFICERS

Arthur Boyd and his wife, Fannie Boyd, colored, of Dyersburg, were brought to Fulton yesterday by local police and charged with the robbery of Elder Charles L. Houser, Church of Christ minister, on November 10, 1939. They were arrested in Memphis yesterday and will be tried in City Court this afternoon before Judge Lon Adams.

The home of Elder Houser on Maple avenue was looted and a box of silverware, a dark suit, two overcoats and some neckties were stolen. The Boyds were arrested yesterday by Memphis detectives when they tried to pawn the silverware in a Memphis Pawn Shop.

Local officials were notified and Chief Dalton and Policeman Boaz went to Memphis to return them to Fulton last night. They are now being held in the city jail.

STATE JUMP SHOWN IN TRAFFIC DEATHS

Frankfort, Ky. —Kentucky traffic fatalities are on the increase. State highway patrol statistics show 427 deaths through September as against 382 for the same period of 1939 when Capt. Leland Barnes said he feared later reports might carry the total still higher.

Highway deaths have averaged forty-seven and four-ninths a month this year. May and August lead with sixty-three and fifty-eight respectively. Available figures give fifty-four for September.

Hatcher Will Leave Reds Off Kentucky Ballot

Striking Of Forged Names Renders Their Petition Invalid

Frankfort, Ky. —Secretary of State George Glenn Hatcher said late today he would leave the Communist party candidates of Kentucky's November election ballots.

His announcement followed advice from Attorney General Hubert Meredith that a court order to strike 151 names from the party's nominating petitions on grounds of "fraud" left less than the required 1,000 names.

Meredith said it is now less than 45 days before the November 5 election and therefore "it is too late for said parties to file a new petition or to supplement the old petition." He added:

"Had Forged Names According to the judgment of the court the petition as filed had unauthorized and forged names on it. It was, therefore, fraudulent and spurious and should not be considered for any purpose because of the taint of fraud which rests upon it."

Hatcher issued a signed statement summarizing developments in the case, including Circuit Judge W. B. Ardery's order to strike the 151 names after three Lexington attorneys had produced affidavits that they were illegal signatures. Hatcher said:

"As the matter now stands the name and emblem of the Communist party and its candidates will not be certified to the county clerks."

Asked whether that ended the matter, the attorney general said the Communist party might petition the courts to order its candidates' names put on the ballots, and thus bring the question up again.

Hatcher said he was going ahead with an order to print the ballots, already delayed by the court action, and that they would contain the Democratic, Republican, Socialist and Prohibition party Presidential and vice-presidential electors, as well as the Republican and Democratic candidates for other offices to be voted upon.

R-A-L-L-Y D-A-Y!

Only six short weeks remain of this Conference Year—so you had better hurry if you want to get in on the program for this year. Sunday instead of having our regular Communion Service we are preparing for a great gathering at both the morning and the evening hours of worship. At the morning hour we are going to have regular preaching by the pastor along the line of Progress; at 7:30 p. m. we are going to have a service devoted to the study and singing of Charles Wesley's Hymns. The choir, under the direction of Miss Ruth Fields, is making special efforts to have a wonderful program. So if you do not like to hear preaching—especially since every song will be one of "The Apollo of Methodism's" best.

Come one, come all; the table will be spread. W. H. Saxon, Minister.

British Drop Plan To Export Children On Account Of Dangers

London. —The Government announced Wednesday night abandonment "until further notice" of the plan to send British children overseas to escape falling bombs. "The recent loss of a number of children who were traveling in the City of Benares has illustrated the dangers to which passenger vessels are exposed even when an convoy under the weather conditions now prevailing in the Atlantic," an official Government statement said.

77 Children Lost The City of Benares, Canada-bound, was sunk about 600 miles west of Ireland the night of September 17 with a loss of seventy-seven children.

Approximately 2,000 children have gone to Canada. In spite of Government assurances, an unofficial report said about half of those already enrolled for departure had been subsequently withdrawn.

THE PEACE WHICH FAILED

Behind the retirement of Neville Chamberlain from the British war cabinet, and his practical effacement from British public life, lies one of the most intensely human stories which has ever unfolded. For, although many in this country and in England will see only the cutting away of dead wood in the retirement of the former Premier and a strengthening of the hands of Premier Churchill, the passing of Chamberlain really marks the end of a career which might have meant a great deal to the British Empire under happier circumstances. No doubt there is a taste of ashes on Chamberlain's lips as he looks back at his career which started as Premier in 1937 and which began its eclipse on the day when he announced a state of war between his nation and Nazi Germany. He knew that he could not last out that war as the British leader, and the fiasco in Norway brought about his enforced retirement as Premier and the promotion of his bitter critic, Winston Churchill, to his post.

Neville Chamberlain was and is essentially a man of peace. During the troubled years following the rise of Hitler in Germany he sought steadily the way to peace. He felt, and there was much ground for this belief, that his nation did not desire war and was unwilling for conflict. He knew better than any person that England was not prepared for an open break with Hitler. He knew, too, of the internal situation in France which finally brought about total collapse of that nation after less than a year of warfare. Knowing and believing these things, it is not surprising that he labored earnestly for some formula which would preserve the peace of Europe. When, despite these efforts, war did come he knew that it meant the end of his hopes and dreams and plans, although, be it said to his everlasting credit, he did not evade the issue when it did come, and his hatred for Germany was as deep as Churchill's.

His public actions prior to the outbreak of war were such as to cause deep personal humiliation to him. No one can say that he enjoyed his trips to Germany, where he practically humbled himself before Hitler. We must remember that he was the first representative of the greatest Empire in the world at that time, and it requires great and high moral courage for such a man to humble himself as he did before Hitler. So eager he was for peace that he was willing to humble himself and humble his nation if that happened to be the price for European peace. Two or three times he did this, and this series of visits reached its climax at Munich, where he signed an agreement which he believed meant "peace in our time."

Wearily he went back home, a tired old man who had paid a terrible price for what he believed might be peace in the time of this generation. An honest man, he believed Hitler and told his nation that the peace had been saved. Events of a few short months were to convince him that Hitler meant less than nothing in his agreement, and when Neville Chamberlain realized this there was no hatred more complete than his for Hitler. He stood before the Parliament of England and in a voice which shook with deepest emotion, declared that a state of war existed between the two nations. His

Fulton High's Bulldogs swamped the Union City team 31 to 2, with Coach Wade using his entire second team string during a great part of the second half. Maddox, Adams and Dobbins starred for the Bulldogs, with Adams running forty yards for the first score.

Chief Lee Roberts and Assistant Chief Murrell were placing seats in the engine house for those who wished to listen by radio to the World's series. It was stated that unless something unexpected occurred it would be possible to hear the games between the Washington Senators and New York Giants.

Pleasant H. Browder, 76 years of age, died at his home west of town yesterday afternoon.

Melvin W. Lewis, former well known citizen of Fulton was killed in an automobile crash near Wichita Falls, Texas.

Charley Holloway and Leighman Browder returned from a fishing trip to No. 9 Lake, where they caught more than 50 crappie.

The Musical Art Club held its regular meeting, with Mrs. Eldryde Grymes giving an enjoyable paper.

Today's Oddity

Fredericksburg, Va.—Winifred L. Watkins of Richmond and Winifred L. Watkins of Birmingham, Mich., are having a tough time as freshmen at Mary Washington college here.

"I've a letter from your boy friend," said the Richmond Miss Watkins to Miss Watkins of Michigan.

"And I've got a letter from your boy friend," replied the latter.

Spokane, Wash.—Marion Hogan peeked out of the elevator he operates, touched the starting handle and the divided doors snapped on his neck.

For 20 minutes he gasped at a crowd gathered outside while a building engineer climbed into the elevator through a trap door at the top and removed the doors.

Hogan emerged "unhurt but uncomfortable."

Kansas City, Kan.—Harold McKain, given a summons for speeding, told the arresting officer he was hurrying to police court—to answer another summons for speeding.

Judge Edmund B. Smith fined him $7.50 for the first summons and $5 for the second. There was seven-miles difference in speed.

Chicago.—The case of the disappearing chickens, 24 cases of them, in fact, was reported to police by truck driver Vincil Salmon.

He said he took a nap while waiting for a storage house to open, and when he awakened—no chickens. Obviously the 288 birds couldn't have flown the coop, he said; they were cold storage chickens.

final, heartbroken sentence still rings in the memory of those who heard or read it: "May God defend the right."

As best he might, Chamberlain directed the war efforts of the British in the first months of the war. He was doomed from the start, however, for British opinion had changed and he and his umbrella were looked on as symbols of British humiliation and defeat. Yet not one word has ever been said against his honesty and integrity of purpose. He was not believed to be the man to push on a great war, and so he has made way for those who are believed to have that ability. Now at 72, worn out, ill, he retires to the sidelines to wait and watch. He is truly a tragic figure, for he might have been a great man during a long period of peace.

an attraction to some of the German officers that they would begin to surrender in droves, and our national budget being already out of balance, a large increase in pay-rolls to take care of German prisoners might break us. Still, such wholesale surrenders might so reduce the German staff that they would be unable to carry on and that would be something worth while.

• Truly it is a far cry from the ancient days when the Romans captured Carthage, put the inhabitants to the sword and plowed up the city to this good when we pay salaries to captured enemy officers.

Fulton Meets Strong Tilghman

Eleven Tonight At Fairfield

The largest crowd of the season is anticipated tonight at 8 o'clock when the Fulton Bulldogs clash with the Tilghman eleven for the first time in two years, at Fairfield. Paducah is sending a large number of fans and all the Fulton fans will be there.

Enthusiasm runs high at the local high school, as the Bulldogs prepare to face their strongest foe. The pep squad staged a huge pep rally last night in front of DeMyer's Drug Store and another was held this morning at the high school and things will be started off right tonight at 7 o'clock when the big parade begins.

Bands to Parade

A colorful parade will form at the Methodist church at 7 o'clock and precede down Lake street to Fourth and on to the ball park. The South Fulton fire truck will lead the parade, followed by the color guard of the high school band and the car occupied by the Fulton and Tilghman high school sponsors. Miss Donna Jean DeMyer, football queen of 1940, is the sponsor for FHS. Next comes the Fulton band, pep squad and cars occupied by high school students. The Clinton band, followed by the Paducah pep squad and the Martin band will complete the parade.

Willey Injured

Only one injury mars the Fulton lineup. Earl Willey, reserve guard, suffered a twisted cartilage in his knee in Wednesday's practice and will not be able to play tonight. The other players are in fine shape and showed a great deal of spirit and determination in yesterday's practice.

In chapel this morning at Fulton High, the players each stated that they would put forth their best efforts no matter what the score.

The bands from Clinton, Martin and Fulton will all perform at the half tonight.

Conference game

This is Fulton's second game in the West Kentucky conference, the Bulldogs having won their first conference game over Marion 6-0, two weeks ago. Tilghman is also playing its second conference game, having defeated Owensboro 47-0 recently.

The lineup is as follows:

OVERDUE BOOKS

BARREL PLACED IN EASY REACH

West Hartford, Conn. — The West Hartford Public Library announced it would place a barrel on the front steps October 7 to 12 "to receive books more than six months overdue."

"No fines and no questions asked," said the announcement which suggested that householders search under radiators, sofas and car cushions during fall housecleaning.

VOLUNTEERS AIDED

BY JUDGE HAMILTON

Frankfort, Ky. — Franklin County Judge L. Boone Hamilton is one reason why Kentucky leads the Nation in volunteer Army enlistments per capita.

Since July 1 he has sent 152 youths to the recruiting station at Lexington obtaining rides for them with State highway patrolmen.

"The word spread," Judge Hamilton said, "and the boys got to coming to my office from all over the county. They would say, 'Judge I hear you can get me in the Army.' I've had 'em from counties all around Franklin and as far away as Estill County."

AIRWAYS OFFICIAL SAYS

NAZIS DETAIN U. S. MEN

New York. — A Pan-American airways official says U. S. State Department couriers to Germany are being detained "deliberately" by German consular officers in crossing occupied France as a German "retaliatory measure" for the sale of destroyers to Britain.

Paul Miskin, traffic manager for Pan-American at Lisbon, Portugal told reporters yesterday on his arrival by clipper that some couriers, carrying confidential diplomatic messages, had been delayed as much as three weeks.

PARACHUTIST PRETENDER

GETS 2 YEARS IN BRITAIN

Oxford, England. — Gunner Leslie Jones arrested on charges of pretending to be a German parachutist, was sentenced today to two years at hard labor by a military court. Jones was convicted of being absent without leave, of forging a civilian identity card, and of causing public mischief.

South Carolinian

With A Conscience

Sends State $5.00

Frankfort, Ky. — The State Treasury was richer by $5.68 today because a South Carolinian decided "a clear conscience is better than money," and a Virginia woman apparently misunderstood the new escheat law.

The South Carolinian, carefully veiling his identity, sent in $5, saying he had "in some way got by" without buying an automobile license while spending part of a year in Kentucky. The letter was mailed from Orangeburg, but the sender declared he did not live there.

The Virginia woman was notified by a Kentucky bank that she had an old 68-cent balance which under the new escheat law would become the property of the State unless she checked it out. But she drew it out and sent it to the Revenue Department anyway.
